Technocrats Hold Their First Meeting In North At Grande Prairie On Friday Evening

Thirty Attend Meeting—Herr C. J. (Wilkie) Clow And Elbert DeBolt Both Part The Part That The Machine Is Playing In Modern Industry—Mounting National Debts Due Large To Relief Discussed

Thirty turned out to the meeting of Technocrats held in the council chamber of the town hall at Grande Prairie, on Friday night to hear C. J. (Wilkie) Clow, organizer, and Elbert DeBolt set forth the part that modern machinery is playing in human affairs.

Mr. DeBolt, who was the first speaker, complimented the good-sized crowd for turning out to the meeting. He stated that those advocating Technocracy were in no way connected with political parties. The movement, which started in 1918, is educational,

White a delegation of Grade VI pupils from the Monroe School, under the leadership of Mr. F. McFie, watched the proceedings to see how municipal affairs were conducted, the council dealt with routine matters at regular meetings of the council on Monday night.

The annual meeting of ratepayers will be held on Friday night January 27, at 8 p.m. It is expected that there will be a good attendance to hear the reports of the town fathers for the past year. Nomination date is set for February 6. Ratepayers are invited.

A request to lease or purchase some town property at the south of town has been left with the finance committee to be dealt with at the next meeting.

The report of Haddin & Miles is regard to the sewer and water installation was read.

The council decided to accept the offer of a fire siren on trial which was offered by the firm.

Relief masters occupied the councillors until a late hour.

Competition In Provincial Seed Fair Very Keen

Says Director Arthur Smith, Who Returned Home On Friday, Came From Calgary—Pleased At The Showing Made By Peace River Exhibitors—50-Bushel Class Won Most Interest—Other Shows Ever—Calgary Board Of Trade Behind Fair Hundred Per Cent.

Arthur Smith, director of the Provincial Seed Growers Association, arrived home on Friday from Calgary, where he attended the Provincial Seed Fair.

Naturally Mr. Smith was more than pleased at the showing made by the Peace River exhibitors.

The director, in conversation with The Tribune reporter at the Grande Prairie station, said that there were many entries in practically every class in the competition in every class was very keen.

There was more interest in the 50-bushel class than ever shown before.

Between 300 and 400 took advantage of the short course held in connection with the fair.

Mr. Smith had some complimentary things to say about the Calgary Board of Trade, who go behind the Seed Fair one hundred per cent.

Wembley Dist. Man Has Leg Broken While Felling Tree

WEMBLEY, Jan. 23.—“Slim” Russell, of the Wembley branch dist. had his right leg broken below the knee while working on a tree in the Peace River south of Wembley on Wednesday afternoon of a week ago. He had just cut a tree through at which he had been “fired,” striking him on the leg and knocking him down. Not realizing that the leg was broken, Russell tried to stand up, forcing the bone through the skin.

The injured man was taken to the Grande Prairie Municipal Hospital, where he was given medical aid by Dr. C. Miller of Wembley.

It is understood that Russell is doing as well as can be expected.

Hugh Allen Cup Finds New Home At Clairmont

The Hugh Allen Challenge Cup, which found a home in Grande Prairie for a brief spell, on Friday night was given a temporary home by the Sodbusters of Clairmont, who were marshalled by R. A. Trout, and who won the game by more than a comfortable margin.

Seabusters — R. A. Trout, Jack Diron, Everett Sheehan and Laverne Shantz.

Defending Rink — Dr. O'Brien, Frank Crummin, W. S. Scarth and Joe Lamb.

TWO PLAYS AND OPERETTA TO BE OFFERING AT G. P. HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT, FEB. 10TH

Two plays and an operetta will form the centre of the offering of the Grande Prairie High School concert which will be held in the City Capitol Theatre on Friday, February 10, commencing at 8:15 p.m.

The title of the first play is “Two Young Men Meet.” The second play, “Not Quite Such a Goose.”

The title of the operetta is “The Queen of the Gypsies.”

There will be a dance immediately after the concert.

Red Devils Soon To Sport Brand New Uniforms

When the Red Devils appear in their play-offs in February, they will be dressed for the occasion in new suits of white and green. Across the breast of the suits will be the words “Grande Prairie.”

Manager Harold Oxley, in discussing the new uniforms with The Tribune reporter, said that it was a good idea to have a report of the hockey fans that the purchase of new suits was made possible.

The colors, remarked Mr. Oxley, were chosen by the players themselves.

Mr. Oxley pointed out that owing to the supply given to hockey teams throughout the Dominion, the federal government in order to save the greater part of the price on borrowing, it is estimated that the cost to the government some $60,000,000, on which interest will have to be paid. It is felt that the government is just that much poorer owing to the large crop of wheat.

C. J. (Wilkie) Clow

“Why should people have to go on loan because the machine produces more?”

These were C. J. (Wilkie) Clow's opening words in her address, during which she used the slogan “the displacement of men and the mounting national debts of both Canada and the United States.”

“To get rid of,” remarked the speaker, “is to get rid of the price system in order to enjoy abundance.”

She then referred to the Grand Prairie Convention which will be capable of supplying power for millions, but the price system prevents the people taking full advantage of the power.

To illustrate the displacement of men, she directed attention to the new method adopted by the steel industry, which allows the steel industry to displace men out of work. This means that purchasing power has been reduced by $300,000,000 and on top of this many of the men displaced will be forced to go on relief, thus adding to the national debt.

The speaker warned her hearers to be ready to meet the situation when the price system breaks down and played no favorites.

Referee Bob Thompson of Grande Prairie and Lieutenant Vic Spicer of Grande Prairie had the game well in hand and played no favorites.

The present system was referred to as one grand merry-go-round which won in the very near future. When asked what would happen if sixty-six and two-thirds of our sixteen are organized under Tech-

Opportunity Is Within You

From an address to the Beaver Lodge
Youth Training Class, by W. D.
Aldright, January, 1939.

I read the other day that there were 80,000 young men riding the rods and hitch-hiking their way across the country in search of thousands of others on the unemployed list. This is a tragic situation. I wish there were time to help them, but there is not. We must address ourselves to our own individual problem. With such a sense of concern as you have, what chance can you have to make good? To what can you turn? What can you get out of life?

I begin with those questions with another. What are you prepared to put into life? Despite all the surprises, the executives of every country are not prepared to let men they can depend upon and promote. It is not so much brilliant men they want but honest capable reliable men who will stick to the task and keep on doing it day after day and year after year—men who will hold their heads, keep good habits, build up their health and improve their efficiency with time. They are the men who eventually get ahead. I was told by a prominent railway official who said the same thing in other words.

"Young fellows nowadays want only a job. They do not seem to care whether they deliver the goods as long as they stay on the payroll. They must attend every hockey game, patronize the picture shows freely, fling the quarters hither and thither, and all for what?"

Opportunity still offers itself up to the right kind of young man. I admit it is difficult for an obscure boy to get a toehold, but the chances exist if he will look for them, work hard, never cease and never give up. After a long wait opportunity often appears unexpectedly.

Not all of you want salaried positions. Most, I hope, want to establish yourselves on farms, in my opinion the finest place in the world to live and work. You are confronted with the same problem as I was. How can you get a start? Let me see. . . . have you thought to save money for your start? The principle is sound for young men to run in with older ones who have a farm plan which they are too old to use. Take my word, however, for instance. Since my boy is seeking breadth of experience or choosing other vocations, should both decide to leave home, I would suggest that we sell my farm left on my hands to operate as a commercial unit. What better idea could I have than to go home I afterwards visited. It was clean but very plain, with a family. But a few serious boys in the plan of future business can make a difference.

The principle is the same. Rockefeller and Carnegie started as poor boys and made their millions. Lincoln educated himself, studying by the light of a fireplace in the backwoods. I wish you a humbler example taken at home.

My room mate at the Ontario Agricultural College was a woman who had been a teacher. She was a good worker and I liked her. When I came home I afterwards visited. It was clean but very plain, with a family. But a few serious boys in the plan of future business can make a difference.

One day, I heard him say, "You would soon begin thinking that as I had a little more property than you I should have more success in boys' club work and all across the city of Ottawa boys salute him with affection and respect."

Opportunity does not consist in circumstances. Opportunity is within you. Look for it there!

In budgeting your expenditure and saving, you may be a little more careful than most, but I believe there would be many similar cases if the right men were available. I have known boys who had their way through high school with the proceeds of a flock of sheep from a small start given them. Others have done well with hogs or dairy cattle. Some have started with a nest egg. There are various chances if we will use our wits and save while we make. We cannot eat the candle to keep the light. We must accumulate a nest egg.

Whatever you do, whether working for a poor widow, a retired farmer, a corporation or the government, ment, give 100 per cent value for every hour—if not for the employer's sake, then at least for your own. You cannot afford to chisel. It ruins you.

Yes, boys, opportunities still come, but they are for the right kind of man, who will prepare himself to meet the high standard of probity and conduct. The world never has enough of such men as they are needed to employment, but there is not. We must address ourselves to our own individual problem. With such a sense of concern as you have, what chance can you have to make good? To what can you turn? What can you get out of life?

Whatever you do, whether working for a poor widow, a retired farmer, a corporation or the government,

I was asked to say something about a larger sphere—of your responsibility as citizens of a democracy. I am afraid I have exhausted my time, but let me suggest this. For all we hear of the need for the development of the future, perhaps a village Hampden, one never knows. What about the present? What is important is the fact that each in your own sphere fit into your place whatever it may be and do the best. The good we do, as well as we can, is important to the democracy and none is to be despised.

In this day of confused thinking and lack of leadership, the bog in the problems surrounding them. Further that as we view the trend of world events, the how, where, when, of which have fought, of speech, of conscience, of religion, of thought of literature, art are becoming curtailed and snatched away by the dictatorial countries, whether in the guise of a proletarian or of a Fascist nation, one cannot help but be impressed with the fact that democracy is to be preserved.

It is not an easy road to success. It takes work and gumption to win. The heights by great men reached and kept.

Wedges attained by sudden flight. But they, while their companions sleep, are toiling upward in the night.

But, you will say, these suggestions of jobs and partnerships and so on are beyond your present reach. What can you do right now to improve your lot?

First of all dismiss the idea that you must attend every picture show, buy every hockey match and every dance. These things are all right in moderation, all very well to the extent one can afford them, all very much beyond you.

There is a rule that will make everyone off. Save some every year, even if it is only a dollar. If you can't, say, "my income is $1,000 a month," then do you know what you did?

"But to act that each tomorrow finds us fitter than today."

Drifters get nowhere. Opportunity is within you.

Steady Production Brings Hog Profit

In the raising of hogs the main point to bear in mind is that, by steady production, based on the normal capacity of the farm, it is possible to increase individual production to increase his average returns materially.

Profits from hogs are dependent on two factors—the price of production and the cost of production.

On the one hand, it is not beyond his power to take advantage of certain market conditions which are regular intervals.

Hog prices show a considerable variation from month to month.

Usually the highest prices in any month are paid from July to September, a period when marketings are low.

By farrowing sows in the winter months, however, the producer will have done much to promote the spirit of good-will among men which is so essential to the peace of the world."

11,000 Scouts at Australian Jamboree

Some 11,000 Boy Scouts from the United States, France, Hungary, Great Britain and other parts of the Empire gathered at the first international Scout Jamboree at Sydney, Australia, last week.

Of course, the first attempt to have a large parachute in the event of an accident; fire-proof and unbreakable gasoline tanks; devices for dropping the heavy load of equipment without making the machine uncontrollable in the event of engine failure; all loudly proclaimed by scientific attractions for would-be air travellers.

In 1920 an old Sopwith Camel, fitted with what was claimed to be an unbreakable gasoline tank, was dropped bodily from H.M. Airship R33, but the demonstration must have been appreciated as far as the principles involved tried to build something that would fly, and the result was the appearance of the first claim of "fool-proof" aircraft, which only proved to be so in practice because they were quite incapable of ever experiencing the hazards of flight.

One, at least, of these much-fancied which in turn revolutionized the infant science of flight did actually embody sound principles. This was the Dornier biplane built in 1917, which had a solid backbone to withstand the tips in the plan of "V" and its only drawbacks were its excessive weight and fragility in these days of low power and piano-wire. But a similar machine built on modern lines in a few years ago now follows this principle for a stable, unsatisfiable machine to be of value, while in Britain the Hill-Pterodactyl machines have demonstrated their efficiency and have certain practical advantages in addition to increased safety, over the Dornier machine.

Even among the early experimenters along the lines of soundest experience, however, all manner of mistakes were tried in design of these machines "fool-proof" to fly.

The Wrights themselves—obviously the most orthodox of early designers of aircraft—tried in design of these claiming rights to almost every individual principle used in their machines, even such direct copies of German machines as the Fokker F.VII.

Of course, the first attempt to stimulate the invention of the more satisfactory system of all others to make their machines fool proof.

One of the most interesting of these was the Wright Autopilot, invented in 1913, the early Stability of "George," the automatic pilot, now fitted in many service machines and air-ports.

The complete control of the aircraft supplied by a pump driven by what must have been one of the earliest examples of a small windmill fixed in the rear of the plane, mounted on a motor so widely used for generating electricity in aeroplanes. The air was released as required to operate the windmill, which in turn drove the pump.

This was heralded by prophecies of a new era in flying, but so far the helicopter can hardly be said to have proved its worth in actual use.

Another interesting and important development to appear was the application of the pendulum to aircraft, which in turn led to the development of the gyroscopic stabilizer.

The other hand, there was one school of pre-war designs that apparently principle idea of having gadgets to make machines stable and aimed at making their machines inherently stable, rather than inherently unstable, which sacrificed everything to stability in the air, as in the case of Danne's tailless machine, seen in Germany.

Another interesting and important development to appear was the application of the wings of birds. But the war soon showed that the really inherently stable machines were too slow and

SO THAT FOOLS MAY FLY

Ever since the earliest days of flying (and before) remarkable inventions claimed to be about to revolutionize the art of flight have from time to time been brought to the press in large headlines. Some of the wonders of the moment have subsequently been applied with certain success, others have only after further years of patient perfecting, some have even proved a good deal for the inventors and the majority of those front page inventions of the newspapers have never been heard of again.

Almost every imagined improvement to the balloon ever made was subject to wild prophesy in the first days of its day, and nearly every one of them was destined to fail.

Just after dictating an outline of this talk I heard over the radio the news that the new Canadian-United States trade agreement, which raises the maximum weight from 175 pounds to 200, has been signed.

King's Message to Australian Scouts

King's Message to Australian Scouts

Opening the recent Australian Boy Scout Jamboree at Sydney, His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Gowrie, Chief Scout for Australia, read the following message from King George VI:

"I am very glad to think that so many Boy Scouts of Australia are meeting together on this the last day of the old year, and I am sure that for your kind and loyal message, and send to you and your fellow Scouts from other Dominion and nations over the world best wishes for your welfare and happiness in the coming year. If throughout the year you try your best, all of you will win."

clumsy in manoeuvre for most purposes, and it fell out of fashion.

During the war the demand for field-proof machines gave place to a demand for efficient speed and speed—not matter if undercarriage were smashed in landing. Strictly orthodox machines were the order of the day, and many of them were armed with full engines installed and increasingly clean lines rather than safety devices.

Then came the time for performance continued after the war, though by then experience in construction had increased the safety of machines to a remarkable extent at the same time as their performance, in spite of abnormally high landing speeds, having become almost negligible. Propellers, which had been considered to be of little value, were now most often with consent to any sacrifice of performance, and the first of these was the propeller, which became the standard type of propeller.

Almost every suggested improvement to the balloon ever made was subject to wild prophesy in the first days of its day, and nearly every one of them was destined to fail.

Just after dictating an outline of this talk I heard over the radio the news that the new Canadian-United States trade agreement, which raises the maximum weight from 175 pounds to 200, has been signed.

King's Message to Australian Scouts

Opening the recent Australian Boy Scout Jamboree at Sydney, His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Gowrie, Chief Scout for Australia, read the following message from King George VI:

"I am very glad to think that so many Boy Scouts of Australia are meeting together on this the last day of the old year, and I am sure that for your kind and loyal message, and send to you and your fellow Scouts from other Dominion and nations over the world best wishes for your welfare and happiness in the coming year. If throughout the year you try your best, all of you will win."

DIVER'S BODY UNDERGOES SEVERE TEST IN HUGE STEEL TANK FOR THIRTEEN HOURS

Max Eugene Nohl, Milwaukee diver, underwent the slow process of decompression in a huge steel air tank where he was confined for nearly 20 hours in an experiment which apparently indicated the human body could withstand high pressures for long periods without damage.

Engineers at the County Emergency Hospital, where the test was performed, were surprised at the pressure of 44 pounds per square inch, equal to that of water at a depth of 100 feet, after Nohl had been in the tank about 13 hours.

D. E. End of Milwaukee University, an associate who began the experiment with Nohl, said no real distress or extreme pain was experienced. Ligon, slight difficulty in his breathing due to the "heaviness" of the air.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR HOCKEY TEAMS LOSE TO PRAIRIE

The junior and senior teams of Scenic played in Grande Prairie on Sunday, with both teams coming out on the short end of the score. The seniors lost 1 to 0, and the Rangers 4 to 3 in overtime.

The Red Devil game was a particularly tough game to lose, as the Rangers had it in their mitt, and practically threw it away. Buster Brown, the goal tender for the Rangers, which the goal judge did not or would not see, consequently it did not count. This was seen by a number of spectators to come in on of a full-sized argument. However, it will all be the same a hundred years from now. A full account of this will be in another part of this issue.

What's "Bouclé"?

Possibly you may have seen the word "Bouclé" in the Catalogue, usually in connection with a fabric or yarn. Do you know what it means?

Well, it's a French word meaning "curled". Bouclé yarns are made with little loops that give a soft, rough, spongy appearance to the fabric. Usually these yarns are all-wool, but sometimes they're all-rayon and cotton, and there's even a cotton core. Those made from rayon are used greatly for knitting.

When the term is applied to women's coat fabrics, it indicates that, as a rule, the Bouclé yarns are used in both directions in the weaving of the fabric. This makes a lovely coating, and is found in such well-made garments.

Occasionally you may be curious as to the meaning of some name appearing in the Catalogue. Write to me and I will be glad to tell you what it means and give you any information that is available concerning the particular garment. On this note, any other question pertaining to fashions, I am always at your service. Drop me a line and be sure of my personal attention.

Folks in Jonesville, Virginia, looked with interest at the "mystery" scratches on the ridge of nine-year-old Bertha Marie Sykes' "bounding bed," a phenomenon that has gripped the entire country to witchery.

SCENIC HEIGHTS

CHICKADEE ORCHESTRA TO PLAY HERE JAN. 27

Arrangements have been completed to have the Chickadee Orchestra supply the music for our dance here at Scenic Heights on Friday, Jan. 27.

As announced last week, this will be the first dance at Scenic Heights in 1938 and from current reports a good time can be expected.

The dance is to be a series sponsored by the Athletic Association. If you appreciate the sports and the organization, we hope you will turn out and lend your support. If you do not feel inclined to attend our dances, and yet would like to participate, come along to our sport club, however small, you may send any cash donations, ample compensation for any diminished driving to and from the dance.

Many enjoyed skating, and although the number that were attired in skates were not many, there were some snappy outfit on display which helped to add a touch of color to the gay crowd. First prize, ladies' costume, Miss Anna Larson; Len Kaufman, a charming Daffodil; Mr. impersonator "Robin Hood," was given first place for the best male costume, and Dorothy Dixie, Miss Doris Walker, was awarded to Marion Grubb, who was the real tamale at the "Gay Camp." Best dressed kiddies were Miss Jeanne Coates, who was a Red Cross nurse, and Kenny Kinnar, a little nigger minstrel.

Third place splits were given to the skating party at Scenic Heights. The weatherman, however, seems to have the older set bluffed, as only a number of the younger ones turned out. It is to be hoped that the weather and also the attendance will be more favorable next time.

BUFFALO LAKESTWO FIRST-CLASS HOCKEY GAMES AND SKATING PARTY

BUFFALO LAKES, Jan. 23.—Two hockey games were played here on Saturday night. The first game was from Big Horn School with a score of 7 to 2. These boys were from 9 to 14 years of age and played a very good game.

A Farmers League game was played between Northfield and Buffalo Lakes and was the best game seen for a long time. Some very fast hockey was played and through some real first-class goal tenders the score was 1 to 1 at the end of regulation time. During the overtime play Northfield managed to score two more goals, the final score being 3 to 1 for Northfield.

After supper a skating party was put on by the United Church ladies, and all had a good time. Red dogs, pie and coffee were served during the evening.

FAUST NEWSBABY FALLS OUT OF CAR

FAUST, Jan. 23.—"Boo-my-head," it was the way little George Kenny told his mother, while rubbing his head, and with his eyes sauced. While swinging in at the gate at home, the lad did swing open the car door, tumbled out, but with no serious injury to him.

SAWING BEGUN AT MILL
McRae's sawmill started sawing the middle of last week. Cris Bitman, who is doing the work, is reported to have four teeth knocked out in connection with unloading logs.

FISHING ENDS AT WHITEFISH LAKES

Fishing ended on Whitefish lakes the 17th. The season having started the 1st. The Davis' the weighmen for the U.F.F., said there were 81 fishing this year, as compared with 130 last year. The weight total, which was 160,000 pounds, was caught in less time than last year.

Contrary to the first report, white people were also present, but they had only one trout living north of Grouard. Two white fishes, the rest were Metis. Menes and U.F.F. were the buyers.

"Pull their tails and their eyes will pop out," is the statement made of Pat Fenton's unique plan. Curious about this, Miss Bertha Stanley and the two Moore girls went Sunday to investigate—but they found no tails to pull.

GORDONDALE

GORDONDALE, Jan. 18.—We are enjoying balmy weather once again, the temperature being around zero since the cold spell, but quite a little snow has fallen since that time, amounting to approximately fifteen inches. The heavy snows are over. The roads are getting in great shape again, although the hills exposed to the wind and sun between town and this point are still very wet.

School opened on the 11th, although the weather was still bad. On the 9th, the delay being caused by the teacher having car trouble and the heavy roads encountered all the way.

It is believed that whooping cough is prevalent in the district, which without doubt will affect attendance at the school.

The G. W. W. held their monthly meeting on the 17th. Mr. A. Singer, their planer, was discussed, pertaining to a sponsoring a novelty dance to replenish their treasury funds. It will be held at Mr. Korn's on February 17. Everybody welcome. The next G. W. W. meeting will be held February 14, at the home of Mrs. P. Radke.
